

Indy Reddy is the Head of Technology for Citi Private Bank and Personal Wealth Management. Indy joined Citi in 2001 and has over 25 years of technology experience in the Financial Industry. Indy's current responsibilities include technology strategy & architecture, application development, implementation & support and business relationship management.

Prior to joining Citi, Indy was a Managing Director at Deutsche Bank where he led a major equity system re-engineering effort in the US to reduce processing costs and improve Straight Through Processing.

From 1987 to 2000, Indy was a Director of Technology at Credit Suisse First Boston and successfully managed various global and regional technology initiatives in the Americas and Europe..

Indy began his technology career with Tata Consultancy Services in India.

Indy is a graduate of Osmania University with a M.Sc. in Electronics from Hyderabad.